In the heart of Devon lies in the charming town of Tiverton, which is ideally situated for exploring the Devon countryside of traditional thatched cottages, rural villages and stunning coastline. Tiverton has a rich history; it was a centre of the wool trade and lace production and lies on the Great Western Canal, which was originally built to transport lime. Our tour includes a relaxing cruise along the Great Western Canal by horse drawn barge, visits to the beautiful Jurassic coastal towns of Sidmouth and Seaton, historic country houses and gardens and the Cathedral City of Wells.
